

Where the learnable signal lives: first-order table vs structural component

